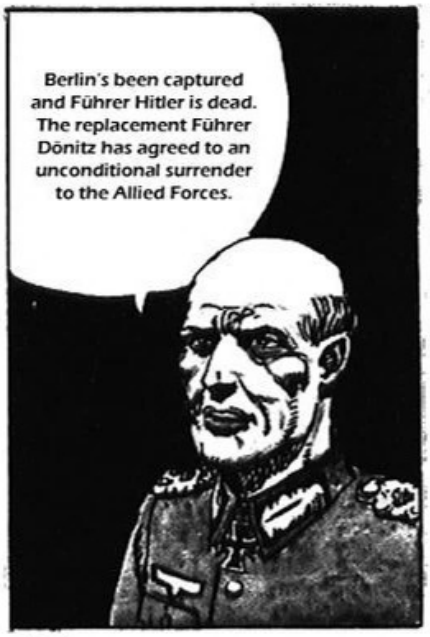
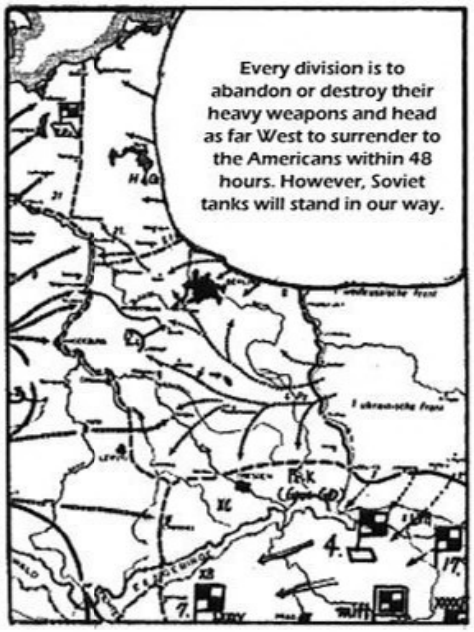
Ha, a dud! Ain't we lucky!?

CURSE YOU ALL TO HELL!

Gentlemen, this war is lost. Send the message out to every division at once.

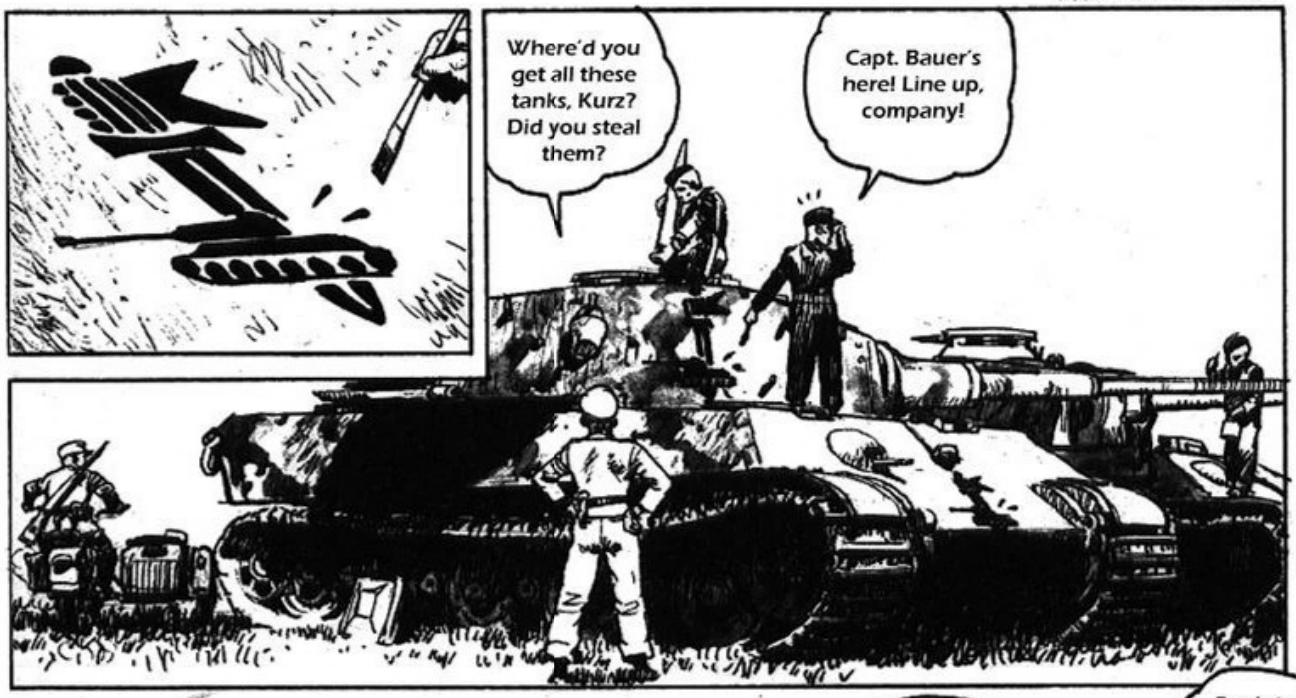


Berlin's been captured and Führer Hitler is dead. The replacement Führer Dönitz has agreed to an unconditional surrender to the Allied Forces.



Every division is to abandon or destroy their heavy weapons and head as far West to surrender to the Americans within 48 hours. However, Soviet tanks will stand in our way.

Thus, I regretfully ask those of you in the rear guard to do your duties for the sake of your people and comrades.



Where'd you get all these tanks, Kurz? Did you steal them?
Capt. Bauer's here! Line up, company!

Nice haul, right, Capt? The SS supply and repair company were happy to trade it off to us for some spare clothes.

We are all here as willing volunteers.
Ready to move upon your command, Cpt.

This is my final mission to you, Ernst.

Yes, father. I still have one working tank to hold the Soviets off. Please give my best regards to mother and Enge.

Kurz, can you see the truck at 2 o'clock?
Ah, I see the mark! Our troops must have all passed here as well.
Right, and it'll be the Ivans next...
Don't think of this war as over just yet, men.
Let us show them the spirit of Germany's finest panzer company! We'll flank them as they cross here.
May God be with us...
Black Knight Company! Chaaarge!
